

New Autodesk Subscription Benefits

Autodesk software can help you work smarter, not harder. When you add Subscription to your purchase, you'll enjoy increased productivity with web support direct from Autodesk and self-paced, online training. And now, there are even more reasons to add Subscription. Discover the newest benefits available exclusively for Subscription customers.

Autodesk® Subscription

Autodesk Software on Subscription: Now with a Visible Difference

Now Autodesk® Subscription customers can access their benefits directly from within most Autodesk® 2010 software.* Simply look to the toolbar in the upper right corner of your Autodesk software for instant access to everything Subscription, and once you've signed in, you'll never have to enter a user name or password again.

- Downloads: Extensions, plug-ins, and other product enhancements released exclusively for Subscribers, can now be downloaded immediately—without signing in.
- e-Learning Lessons: Go directly to valuable Subscriber-only tutorials. Just click to access a lesson—sign-in is no longer required.
- Technical Support: Sign-in is still required for technical support. But once you have a username and password, a new “Keep me signed in” option eliminates the need to sign in over and over again.

When you click here, you'll get access to Premium Content:

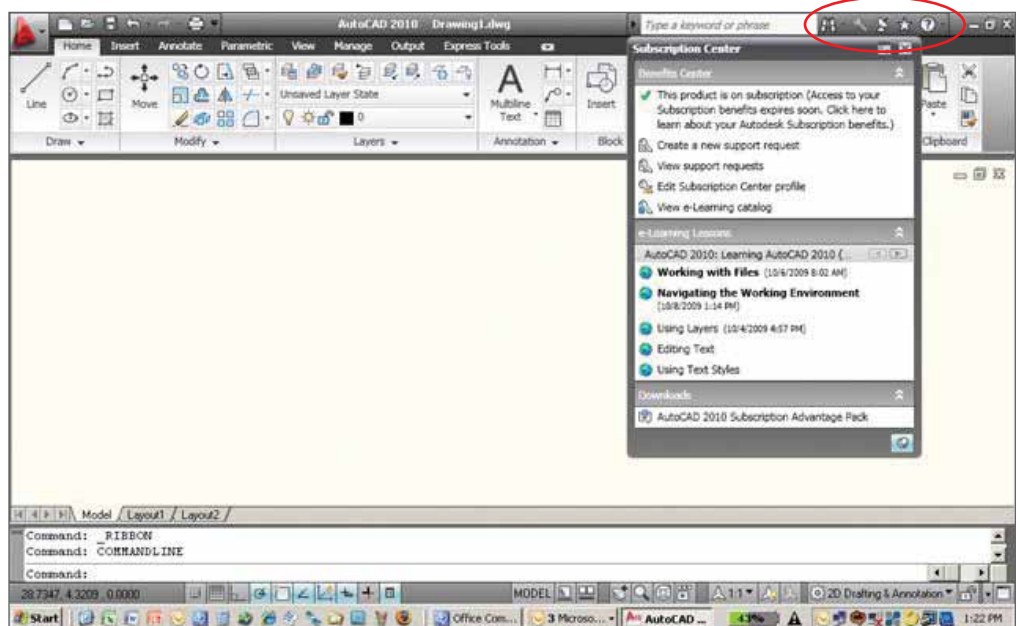

Whenever premium Subscriber-only content comes up in a search result, you'll be passed through automatically—no sign-in needed.

When you click here, you'll get Special Notifications:

From time to time, notifications will let you know when new Subscription benefits are released and/or when your Subscription contract is about to expire.

Get instant access to your Subscription benefits from this toolbar in the top right corner of your Autodesk software.
